

Recognition and Reward Procedure

1 Purpose

To describe the processes to implement Employee recognition and reward initiatives at the University.

2 Scope

This procedure applies to all Employees.

3 Procedure Overview

This procedure outlines the processes to implement:

- Employee excellence awards
- recognition of service
- other initiatives.

4 Procedures

The University will use both formal and informal approaches to recognise and reward exceptional Employee service, performance, and achievement.

4.1 Employee excellence awards

The University may give Employee excellence awards each calendar year to recognise and reward exceptional performance, achievement, and impact by an individual or team.

All Employees are eligible to apply for any excellence award.

Each award normally consists of a financial grant and a certificate. The financial grants must be used in full within 12 months of receipt and can only be used for professional development and associated expenditure.

Applications must be made on the relevant application form and submitted by the advertised due date.

Assessment will be undertaken by an assessment panel (with an appropriate gender mix) and will examine the merit of each application against criteria. The panel will consider achievement relative to opportunity and unconscious bias during the assessment process.

The University is not obliged to present any excellence award or medal in any given year if there are no applications of sufficient merit.
