4 Procedures

4.1 Eligibility

HDR Scholarships offered by the University are typically offered on the basis of Academic Merit and the process is competitive. Eligibility for Admission to an HDR Program does not guarantee the award of a Scholarship.

Applicants for Scholarships will only be considered for Scholarships once they have been deemed eligible for Admission or have been admitted to an HDR Program.

Domestic Applicants who are commencing or continuing in an HDR Program are eligible to apply for Stipend Scholarships.

International Applicants who are commencing or continuing in an HDR Program are eligible to apply for a Stipend Scholarship, which may include Fees Offset.

To be eligible for Scholarships, Applicants must be available for full-time Enrolment and be located in Australia (except for periods of approved fieldwork outside of Australia).

For specific eligibility criteria for each Scholarship, please refer to the University Scholarships website.

Category B Scholarships may have additional eligibility requirements, which are outlined on the University Scholarships website.

4.2 Applications

Scholarship application dates are published on the University Scholarships website.

It is the Applicant's responsibility to provide all required documentation for consideration of a Scholarship application by the Scholarship closing date. Incomplete or late applications will not be considered.

The recommendation should include an assessment of candidates against the Scholarship application weightings and the Scholarship selection criteria. The Decision to award the Scholarship is made by the Dean (GRS).

4.3.3 Roles and Responsibilities

Where a recipient must complete specific requirements prior to receiving a formal offer of a Scholarship, they will be provided with a conditional letter of offer, which will outline the activities to be completed in order to receive a formal offer. Where a recipient has not demonstrated that they have completed the specific requirements as outlined in their letter of offer, their offer of Scholarship will be withdrawn.

4.4 Progress

Students in receipt of a Scholarship are required to make satisfactory progress in their studies. Progress will be monitored in accordance with the Higher Degree by Research Student Progress Procedure. If the University does not consider that progress is satisfactory, the Scholarship may be suspended or terminated.

Cotutelle PhD Students may have additional requirements to maintain satisfactory progress - please refer to the Cotutelle PhD Program Procedure for further details.

4.4.1 Suspension of Scholarship
