Social Media Procedure

1 Purpose

To operationalise and support the effective use and management of Social Media by University Members in a way that identifies them as an Affiliate. This Procedure establishes guidelines and standards for the use, management, and monitoring of Social Media by University Members, ensuring alignment with University values and regulatory requirements.

2 Scope

This Procedure applies to the use of Social Media by University Members in a way that identifies them as an Affiliate. The Procedure also outlines how University Members respond to interactions with University Social Media content by members of the public.

This Procedure should be read in conjunction with the Code of Conduct Policy, the Research Code of Conduct Policy and the Student General Conduct Policy, which outline overarching expectations for maintaining appropriate standards of conduct and adhering to professional and ethical standards.

3 Procedure Overview

The University's Social Media presence is managed by Media and Strategic Communications, with official accounts serving as channels for promotion and engagement.

This Procedure outlines processes for University Members engaging on behalf of the University or in a manner that identifies them as an Affiliate with the University. The University encourages the responsible use of Social Media for academic, community, and business engagement, with an emphasis on maintaining a safe, inclusive, and professional environment.

University Members must cooperate with requests to remove any comment, post or other online content where the University forms the view that the content is in breach of this Procedure or the University's expectations. They will be notified by Media and Strategic Communications in these instances.

University Social Media accounts must clearly indicate that they are maintained by the University and will have University contact Information prominently displayed.

Any member of the University Community who identifies a suspected fake Social Media account purporting to represent the University should immediately report this suspicion to Media and Strategic Communications.

University Social Media account owners are responsible for maintaining an account that adheres to the University's Brand Guidelines and maintains a sufficient level of quality content and engagement as deemed by Media and Strategic Communications.

Media and Strategic Communications reserves the right to restrict where possible, or request the removal of any University Social Media account or content that is deemed in violation of this Procedure.

Media and Strategic Communications must ensure records related to the use of the University logo, approval of accounts, talent releases, reports and investigations into non-compliance, and any matter related to this Procedure are captured as complete, reliable and accurate evidence of business decisions, actions, recommendations, advice or instruction in relation to Social Media.

4 Procedures

Official University Social Media accounts are managed by, or in consultation with, Media and Strategic Communications. Any new Social Media account representing the University, in whole or in part, must receive prior approval from Media and Strategic Communications. Requests to create a new account must include appropriate justification, confirmation of resourcing to maintain the account, and completion of required Social Media training. Media and Strategic Communications reserves the right to decline requests for new University Social Media accounts.

Media and Strategic Communications is responsible for approving any Social Media account or site that represents the University for promotional purposes, including, but not limited to, accounts promoting University initiatives, Research, or events.

At its discretion, Media and Strategic Communications may request the deactivation of any non-official Social Media channel that seeks to represent the University in any capacity.

4.1 Use of TikTok

The use of the TikTok application at the University is subject to specific guidelines due to significant security and privacy Risks associated with the platform's extensive data collection.

The TikTok application must not be installed on University devices. However, access to TikTok via a web interface (e.g., through a browser) on University devices is permitted, provided it complies with other University Policy Instruments. This restriction does not apply to personal devices, however, University Data must not be stored on personal devices where the TikTok application is installed, including access to University email accounts.

Legitimate business use of the TikTok application is permitted under limited circumstances, such as for marketing or public relations purposes that align with the University's strategic goals. Media and Strategic Communications must approve all requests to create a University TikTok channel. Requests must include appropriate justification, confirmation of resourcing, and evidence of completed Social Media training. Media and Strategic Communications reserves the right to decline such requests.

4.2 Acceptable use of Social Media

The University encourages and supports University Members to engage on matters directly related to their area of expertise via Social Media channels. University Members and representatives of the University should be transparent about their identity and role within the institution when engaging on Social Media.

University Members may only disclose Public Information.

Requests for University Members to act as spokespersons on behalf of the University through Social Media are managed through referral to Media and Strategic Communications. Examples may include tagging University Members as experts on Social Media platforms.

For platforms with specific security considerations, such as TikTok, approved business use is permitted only under limited circumstances (e.g., marketing or public relations purposes aligned with University goals). Approved TikTok users must:

- Install the TikTok application only on a standalone device without access to official University Information.

- Ensure the standalone device is securely stored and isolated from sensitive data or conversations.

- Remove Metadata from photos, videos, and documents before uploading to TikTok.

- Minimize sharing of personal identifying Information where possible.

- Use a generic email address for TikTok accounts and ensure multi-factor authentication (MFA) and unique passphrases are in place.

- Regularly review TikTok's terms and conditions and permissions with each update to ensure compliance.

- Delete the TikTok application from devices when no longer needed.

4.3 Unacceptable use of Social Media

University Members must align their behaviour with this Procedure when using Official University Social Media channels, engaging with Social Media in learning, teaching, or Research contexts, or making Identifiable Private Use of Social Media. This includes adhering to platform-specific requirements.

TikTok-specific non-compliance includes the installation of the application on University devices, failure to follow mitigation strategies, or storing University Data on devices with TikTok installed.

University Members must not:

- post material or make any comment that is in conflict with the Academic Freedom and Freedom of Speech Policy and the Code of Conduct Policy;

- post material or make any comment that creates, or might be construed to create, a Risk to the health or safety of a Student, contractor, Employee or other person, including material that amounts to Bullying, psychological or emotional violence, coercion, Harassment, Sexual Harassment, aggressive or abusive comments or behaviour, and/or unreasonable demands or undue pressure;

- post material or make any comment that infringes copyright, is fraudulent, breaches Intellectual Property rights, constitutes a contempt of court or stalking, breaches a court order, or is otherwise unlawful;

- use the University's logo or any other University trademark without prior written permission of Media and Strategic Communications;

- imply they are authorised to speak as a representative of the University, or give the impression that the views expressed are those of the University (unless officially authorised by the University);

- use the identity or likeness of another Student, contractor, Employee or other member of the University Community without consent;

- use or disclose any University confidential Information obtained as a member of the University Community;

- sell, purchase, share, post or offer to write assignments or other assessable work that would be considered a breach of the Student General Conduct Policy; or

- post answers to practice questions, tutorial questions, practice exams or other such material issued by the University.

When using Social Media, University Members should be aware that:

- Relying on anonymity or pseudonyms does not guarantee protection;

- A site's security setting should never be relied upon to protect or keep material private; and

- Online comments are available immediately to a wide audience, can last indefinitely, and may be copied and shared out of context.

4.4 Image and video consent

When publishing images or videos on University Social Media accounts, University Members must obtain consent from any identifiable individuals before posting, sharing, or distributing the content. For images or videos involving children, V, Research subjects, or clinical patients, additional approvals may be required, such as Research ethics clearance or guardian consent.

4.5 Monitoring

University Social Media account owners are responsible for maintaining the account/s, including monitoring all posts.

Social Media account owners are responsible for deleting comments or content deemed defamatory, inaccurate, false, misleading, in breach of University Policy Instruments, or that may negatively affect the reputation of the University. Comments or content of this nature should be recorded (via a screenshot before being deleted) and may need to be escalated to the relevant University. University Members are required to cooperate with requests from Media and Strategic Communications to remove any content that is not in line with this Procedure or the University's expectations.

4.6 Social Media training

All University Members managing University Social Media accounts must complete Social Media training provided by Media and Strategic Communications before commencing activities. TikTok-specific training will include guidance on mitigation strategies, security practices, and content management. Media and Strategic Communications has the final authority to permit Social Media activities, including TikTok use, upon completion of training.

4.7 Teaching and learning

Social Media channels may be used as supplementary communication tools in a learning and teaching context, alongside other official modes of Student communication, including, but not limited to, University email and posts in the University's learning management system. Learning and teaching-related Social Media channels must be accessible only to relevant University Members or partners.

4.8 Research

Social Media can be effective in improving Research impact but should form part of a broader strategy. Any use of Social Media in the conduct and/or reporting of Research must adhere to the principles of responsible Research conduct outlined in the Code for the Responsible Conduct of Research and comply with any relevant ethics approvals and contractual obligations of the Research project.

University Members who wish to use Social Media in the conduct of Research while associated with the University brand, should consult with Media and Strategic Communications and the Office of Research, to determine the appropriate strategy.

4.9 Access controls

Passwords for Official University Social Media channels must be centrally managed by Media and Strategic Communications and immediately reset if an administrator leaves the University.

4.10 Records management

All Social Media activity related to official University accounts, including posts, comments, images, and videos, must comply with the University's Records and Information Management Policy. University Members responsible for Social Media accounts are required to retain records of significant interactions, approvals, and any instances of removed or restricted content.

For content requiring additional approvals, such as images or videos of identifiable individuals, records of consent and any additional clearances (e.g., Research ethics approval or guardian consent) must also be maintained in line with the University's record-keeping standards.

4.11 Unofficial Social Media Channels

University Members may engage with Social Media groups, pages or channels that are not officially managed by the University, such as study groups, clubs, or societies. These channels are created and operated independently but must be clearly distinguished from official University platforms to prevent any confusion or misrepresentation.

The following must be adhered to when creating an unofficial University-related Social Media channel:

- Identification: The Social Media channel must clearly state in the "About" section that it is an unofficial platform and is not managed by the University's Social Media team.

- Branding: The University name, logo, or other trademarks must not be used in any manner that implies the channel is official or endorsed by the University. This is to ensure official channels remain easily identifiable and to prevent copyright violations.

If a University Member wishes to establish a Social Media account that identifies with the University, they must submit a request to the University's Media and Engagement team who will review the request to ensure compliance with the University's Policy Instruments and Guidelines.
